EUROPE ON WAR BRINK; ARMIES, NAVIES MASS

By The Associated Press

Europe stood today on the brink of war.

The end of peace talks between Reichsfuehrer Hitler and British Prime Minister Chamberlain signalled the most intensive war preparations since 1914.

France called 300,000 reservists to the colors—the last step before general mobilization. Evacuation of border towns along the German frontier began. France had more than 2,000,000 men under arms.

The British home fleet suddenly put to sea from Invergordon, Scotland. Malta, Britain's naval base in the Mediterranean, was put on a wartime basis. All arms of Britain's defenses were put in readiness.

Czechoslovakia mobilized an army estimated at 1,500,000 men against the danger of German invasion.

Chamberlain flew home to London from Godesberg after a final, fateful talk with Hitler.

He had agreed to place a German memorandum before the Czechoslovak government. It was semi-officially reported that the memorandum, whose nature was kept secret, already had been relayed.

In London, where Chamberlain had called an emergency session of the cabinet and was to see Premier Edouard Daladier of France, Hitler's final demands were said to include immediate demobilization of the Czechoslovak army and occupation of Sudetenland by either Sudeten or German troops.

There was no mention of British support for these demands.

Fighting between Czechoslovak patrols and Sudeten German fighters broke out in Sudetenland near the German frontier. Railroad traffic between Germany and Czechoslovakia through that region halted.

DNB (German official news agency) reports in Berlin said Sudeten Germans had arrested 600 Czechoslovaks and held them as hostages, to be killed if Czechoslovak artillery bombarded Sudetenland towns.

Dispatches from Budapest said down lighted what appeared to be a solid wall of barbed wire, steel and concrete on the entire Czechoslovak-Hungarian frontier. All highway and telephone communications between the countries were discontinued.

Mussolini, speaking at Padua, warned his Fascist followers to be ready for war.

"I know all of you are ready for any eventuality," he shouted to 300,000 Blackshirts.

★ TO BOSTON EDISON CUSTOMERS ★

The Boston Edison Company will maintain 24-hour emergency service throughout the week-end. We trust that customers still without electric service will understand that several days more may elapse before a return to normal conditions. Our first consideration is the safety of the general public, and of our employees who are engaged in the work of restoration, even though some delay may occur as a result of our precautions. With the removal of fallen trees and other debris from our lines, it is now apparent that the damage in outlying districts will exceed that of the great sleet storm of 1921. The Company is supplementing its regular force with large crews of emergency workers to meet this difficulty.

Customers will hasten the return of service to their homes if they will do everything possible toward clearing away fallen trees and branches on private property which may interfere with the replacement of dead circuits.

The Edison Company warns all persons to avoid contact with fallen or hanging wires, wherever they may be found. The safe rule is to consider every wire as dangerous.

We again express our appreciation of the patience and tolerance of our customers and the splendid cooperation we are receiving from State and Municipal authorities.

Americans Told to Flee

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Request that Americans leave Czechoslovakia and quickened pace in the Treasury's preparations to meet possible international financial problems evidenced today the administration's apprehension over the latest turn in the German-Czech crisis.

The state department said Wilbur J. Carr, minister at Prague, had advised Americans to get out of Czechoslovakia immediately because "conditions were such that at any time it might become impossible for them to leave."

Department records list 5190 Americans as residents in Czechoslovakia. Hundreds more may be there as tourists. It was believed that a considerable number had left.

Among Treasury developments were these:

1—It deposited $90,000,000 of gold certificates in three federal reserve banks, increasing the cash balance of the treasury in the event a war demoralizes money markets.

2—Jacob Viner, University of Chicago economist who resigned recently as a treasury aide, was recalled.

3—Archie Lochhead, manager of the Treasury's stabilization fund, and Paul Leroy-Beaulieu, financial attache of the French embassy, conferred for an hour. Lochhead directs this country's actions under its 1936 agreement to co-operate with France, Great Britain, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland in stabilizing world currencies.

President Roosevelt and his cabinet discussed the European situation, but there was no public word as to the views exchanged.

More Troops Rushed To Halt Cape Looting

New England Today:

Extra troops move to Cape Cod in war against looters. Marital law in southeastern and western Massachusetts communities and in Rhode Island and parts of Connecticut. All sightseers barred from these areas.

Disaster deaths may exceed 700. Damage estimates mount to $750,000,000.

Governor Hurley and executive council vote new emergency measures. Governors of Rhode Island and New Hampshire take similar steps.

Red Cross announces national drive for $500,000 for devastated area. Massachusetts seeks $15,000,000 from WPA for reconstruction of roads and buildings.

Financial needs of six states to be mapped at meetings of N. E. governors Monday at Boston with WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins.

Airplanes and army trucks reach isolated spots with foods, medicine and vaccines.

More National Guardsmen sped out of Boston today to join troops engaged in curbing looters on Cape Cod as New England's ever-increasing toll of flood and hurricane mounted to the staggering total of 700 victims.

Four batteries of artillery, numbering 280 men, left Commonwealth Armory to augment a force of 170 already in Wareham, Falmouth and other centers.

"Shoot to kill," was the order against looting given by Adjutant General Charles H. Cole.

"Whole truckloads and boatloads of goods from wrecked homes and summer cottages have been carried away," the National Guard head added.

Meanwhile, every resource of the nation was thrown into a fight against disease and famine in the New England area.

The battle thus far was a winning one, for nearly every stricken community—no matter how isolated—had food, medicine and vaccine and doctors to administer them.

Military and medical authorities were in complete control in all of Rhode Island and large areas in southeastern and western Massachusetts as work was rushed to eradicate damage of the disaster.

It was estimated it would take 200,000 men six months to restore New England to normal conditions.

Damage estimates run as high as $750,000,000.

Governor Hurley and the Executive Council met in special session just before noon to vote emergency funds until the legislature reconvenes.

The legislature is scheduled for a special session early next week to provide finances for a rehabilitation program by all state agencies.

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS

Work of sanitation and reconstruction went forward while bodies of new-found victims advanced the death toll.

Storm deaths now are estimated—Rhode Island, 300; Massachusetts, 214; Connecticut, 100; New Hampshire, 10; Vermont, 2.

Roosevelt Speeds Aid to New England

President Roosevelt from a sick bed today promised every federal aid to New England's hurricane and flood sufferers.

Meanwhile Works Progress Administrator Harry Hopkins, now flying to Washington from the West Coast, called on New England's six governors to meet him in Boston on Monday to outline needs of their states.

He was to talk late today with the President, who already has assured U. S. Senator Green of Rhode Island that the government will give every possible aid. At the same time, Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross, announced a nationwide campaign to raise $500,000 for the devastated area.

Among the first requests for emergency WPA funds was sent to Washington today by State Administrator John J. McDonough.

McDonough sought $15,000,000 for a state-wide blanket project to rebuild roads and buildings. He said that many towns were without funds for reconstruction and repair work and that the state emergency fund was now dangerously low.

Sightseers Barred From Disaster Areas

Disaster stricken areas in Massachusetts and Rhode Island were completely closed today to weekend sightseers.

Beginning at noon, no persons traveling west, except those with special passes, will be permitted to cross the geographical line drawn from Fitchburg to Worcester nor to proceed further south than another line extending from Fall River, through Taunton to Plymouth.

After 5 o'clock tonight similar barriers will be thrown around the entire state of Rhode Island.

Massachusetts Commissioner of Public Works William F. Callahan has assigned 100 inspectors in his department to enforce the ban in this state.

Governor Robert E. Quinn of Rhode Island had ordered troops to keep all persons out of his state except those with military passes.

MALADY HITS 15 MORE

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (INS)—Fifteen new cases of food poisoning were reported today in Chicago and its suburbs, where more than 180 persons have been made ill and two others have died in the past week.

Turn Back Clock Hour Tonight

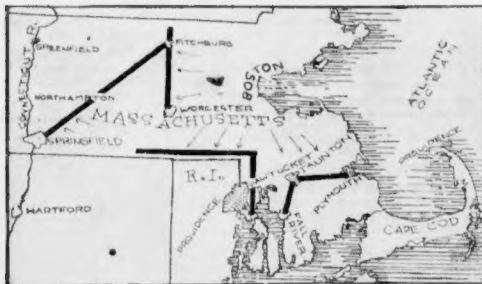

The 1938 daylight saving period in Massachusetts ends at 2:01 tomorrow morning.

Officially, clocks are supposed to be turned back an hour at that time but early-to-bed householders may make the change before they retire.

Czechs March—"To War"

Bulletin

ROHRBACH, Germany, Sept. 24 (AP) — Serious shooting affrays took place last night along the Austro-Czechoslovak frontier near here, with casualties on both sides. About 50 Sudeten German Free Corps men armed with hand grenades and revolvers or rifles, attempting to aid fugitives, battled with Czechs. Fugitives report that bridges, dams, and locks have been loaded with dynamite.

PARIS, Sept. 24—Four hundred thousand Frenchmen were called to the colors today as Premier Edouard Daladier's government ordered a "partial" French mobilization.

By tomorrow night, however, according to a reliable source, the number of troops under arms in this country will number many more than 2,000,000.

The men ordered to arms so far have been selected from recent military classes. They will complete the forces necessary for protection of French frontiers should France, now openly committed to fight Germany if Hitler's legions invade Czechoslovakia, be forced into a conflict.

It was announced that measures similar to those taken by the army were being taken by the French navy.

General Marie Gustave Gamelin, French chief of staff, conferred with Deladier for more than two hours after the mobilization orders were sent out.

Nazis Goose-Step to Border

Oct. 1 Hitler's War Deadline

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Sept. 24 (Copyright)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler has promised Prime Minister Chamberlain he will hold his hand from war until October.

In exchange, the British premier has undertaken to advise Czechoslovakia in the strongest possible terms to capitulate and evacuate its troops entirely from the Sudeten area.

Chamberlain has forwarded to the Prague government a memorandum setting forth the results of his discussions with Hitler, accompanying this with a personal, strongly-worded letter advising the Czechs to give in.

TWO CHIEF DEMANDS

The memorandum set forth the following demands, dictated by Hitler as his price of peace:

1—Immediate cessation of all warlike activity by the Czechs against the Sudetens.

2—Immediate Czech demobilization.

The memorandum, it is believed, also embraces a demand that military elements be ousted from the new Czech cabinet headed by General Jan Syrový, inspector-general of the army, and contained an exact definition of the territory to be annexed by Germany.

This includes the predominantly German areas of the Sudetenland and the city of Pilsen, equally famed for its beer and its armaments.

The huge Czech Skoda munitions works, however, will be left to the Czechs, although its production will be strangled by inclusion in the Reich of the surrounding territory which supplies Skoda with essential raw materials.

DECE USES PRESSURE

If the Czechs agree to evacuate peacefully, war will be averted and the German occupation will take place progressively, to be followed by solution of the Polish and Hungarian minority problems.

Premier Mussolini will continue to exert strong pressure upon Prague until Poland and Hungary are satisfied, with Hitler offering moral support.

Should the Czechs offer resistance, however, there is no doubt Germany will embark upon an armed campaign to wipe the state out of existence.

It is anticipated here that the moment the Czechs offer to fight, the Poles and Hungarians will plunge in to seize their own districts.

War Threat Speeds Britons to Wed

LONDON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Registrar offices were deluged with a rush of couples getting married "before the war breaks out."

At the Caxton Hall office there were two long lines—one to the marriage license window, the other to the gas mask fitting depot.

Some couples went directly from being married to be fitted for gas masks.

Navy Minister Campinchi, who made the announcement that the navy also was mobilizing its forces, also conferred with the Premier.

MASS ON FRONTIER

A communique issued by the premier stated:

"By reason of the evolution of the situation abroad, the government has been led to reinforce precautionary measures already taken to insure the security of the northeastern frontier (facing the Reich)."

"In particular, it was decided urgently to call up certain reservists of all classes. It is in no way a question of general mobilization. This calling up has been carried out by means of special posters and concerns reservists holding mobilization papers marked with the figures 'two' and 'three'."

"Those concerned should join up without delay."

"Parallel with these measures and for the purpose of assuring troops will have the means necessary to them, requisitions are proceeding in parts of the national territory."

TRUCE WITH HITLER

Meanwhile, France, like the rest of the world, was relieved over reports from Godesberg that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain had extracted a "truce" from Hitler on the Sudeten issue.

It was believed that, even should war come, it has been staved off for some 48 hours by Chamberlain's last-minute talk with Hitler.

Reports from Strasbourg said French soldiers wearing full field equipment were ready in fighting positions along a front about two miles behind the famed "Maginot Line," which already is said to be fully manned.

During the night the frontier on the German side of the Rhine was plunged in darkness except for light along a few roads. Traffic across international German and French bridges was reduced to a minimum.

2 Million Rush To Czech Army

(Copyright, 1938, by International News Service)
PRAGUE, Sept. 24—Nearly two million men 'between the ages of 18 and 40 leaped to arms today at their young country's general mobilization order.

With telegraph and telephone wires leading to the outside world cut of commission, this determined little republic, facing the grim possibility of its first war, was slow to react to demands which Adolf Hitler presented at Godesberg in a memorandum of the Reich's "final attitude."

WIRES CUT OUT

But the rush into the ranks moved speedily ahead, and before dawn most of Czechoslovakia's able-bodied men were ready to take their posts along the heavily-fortified mountain frontiers which for centuries have protected Bohemia from her neighbors.

Most of the telephone and telegraph wires, linking Prague with Rome, Vienna and Bern, have been cut, or at least "interrupted," and the Czechs believe the cuts occurred in German territory.

Czech authorities threatened to cut German lines running through Czech territory towards Pilsen. East if Prague's communications are not restored.

FEAR AIR RAIDS

Warlike scenes of bustle and sorrow were witnessed everywhere in Czechoslovakia during the night, as a motor trip from the northern Sudeten sector to Prague poignantly showed.

In every town, village and city the streets were crowded at a late hour by peasants who remained up long past their usual retiring time to join the army or await the latest "war" bulletin. Recruiting stations were full.

Every form of transportation—motor cars, trucks, taxis, carts and horses were requisitioned to take the men to barracks.

Choked with tears, the women still had courage to shout "Long live Czechoslovakia!" as they kissed their husbands and sons and sweethearts farewell or swung along with the men marching out of town.

Sudden air raids from the strong country to the west were feared, and there were no lights to be seen in any city or hamlet on the trip. Automobile headlights were dimmed with blue paper.

Even after midnight some streets in Prague were blocked with patriotic crowds.

GUARD FOREIGN LEGATIONS

Strong police guards were placed in front of every foreign legation, especially the German.

All stores and business offices were ordered to be prepared for air raids, and all windows were tightly curtained.

President Edouard Benes and Czechoslovakia's new military premier, Inspector General Jan Syrový, one-eyed commander-in-chief of the army, issued the mobilization decree which was enacted by the cabinet.

The decree, said to have been adopted at the suggestion of Great Britain, France and Russia, was broadcast by radio throughout the republic.

It was expected to bring between 1,750,000 and 2,000,000 men under arms within six hours, according to some estimates.

A rigorous censorship was clamped down on all news of a military character.

It was estimated 300,000 Czech troops are already posted along the German frontier districts, although military statistics were kept a closely guarded secret.

Warns Public On Live Wires

Beware of fallen or hanging wires!

President Frank D. Comerford of the Boston Edison Company thought the warning so important he signed his own name to it. There are many live wires lying around, and people should leave them for the linemen, it was pointed out.

Best way to help restore electric service, Comerford said, is to clear away the trees and branches on the highways.

New England that necessary money and every agency of the government will come to her aid.

Works Progress Administrator Hopkins was winging his way from the west coast to Washington for a conference with the President over the district's plight.

Boston already has been chosen for rehabilitation headquarters, with Monday set as the day when a comprehensive program gets under way.

On that day, Hopkins will confer here with all six New England governors, ready to hear their financial needs. Prior to that time, army engineers will have completely surveyed the havoc from the air and be prepared to give authoritative damage estimates.

SURVEY FACTS

Survey of destruction spots today by the Boston Evening American revealed:

RHODE ISLAND—A death toll conservatively estimated at 300 persons, with many other missing. A dozen beach resorts leveled of all buildings.

Property loss of nearly $200,000,000. Providence in complete control of the militia. All sight-seers barred from the stricken areas. An emergency council directing relief under Governor Quinn.

MASSACHUSETTS—A total of more than 30 lives on Cape Cod, now beset by looters. Looters fired on by state police at Buzzards Bay and troops called in to protect remaining property.

The flood crest on the Merrimack and the Connecticut now past with loss of life and tremendous damage at Lowell, Haverhill and Lawrence and in the Connecticut Valley towns in Western Massachusetts.

CONNECTICUT—Thousands of workers winning fight against the rampaging Connecticut river as the crest reaches Hartford on its way to the sea.

Rail and bus transportation made gains in service with bus schedules resumed to New York. Train service also was started with bus connections between Saybrook, Ct. and Westerly, R. I., the big strip in the New York run wiped out by tidal wave.

The threat of food shortage was declared at an end with arrivals of foodstuffs from the south and west on trains rerouted around the flood area.

New England crops were hard hit, it was revealed today, in a federal survey. The onion crop of the Connecticut valley is a total loss, while apple growers face a $1,800,000 loss. Total crop loss may reach $5,000,000, officials reported.

New Bedford Death List 69

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 24—This city and its environs today had a death list of 69 as ruins were searched for other victims.

Probable loss is placed at $7,500,000, with the neighboring beach colonies at Mattapoisett, Marion, Westport and Fairhaven virtually wiped out.

Dr. Austin Riggs of Stockbridge, famous psychiatrist, told how he, Harry Bell, his chauffeur, and Susan Leary, his cook, had sought precarious safety atop an automobile. For more than an hour they clung to Miss Leary, but a great wave swept her to death.

Mrs. Arthur A. Small, wife of the keeper of Palmer Island light, was crushed to death in a small boat as she tried to row out alone to her husband. Small was injured when the light-house was damaged but is expected to live.

Mrs. Eben Draper Still Seriously Ill

Mrs. Eben S. Draper, wife of the Hopkedge manufacturer, today was in serious condition at a hospital where she was taken after being removed from a stalled train at Providence during the hurricane. Mrs. Draper was stricken ill several weeks ago at San Francisco.

Springfield Digging Out As Flood Waters Recede

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 24—This city bent its energies to rehabilitation today as the waters of the Connecticut river receded 3.2 feet through the night from its high of 25.75 feet.

Acting Chief of Police John P. Fleming said, however, that 5000 persons evacuated from the north end of the city would not be allowed to return to their homes until late this afternoon.

National guardsmen in boats patrolled the streets of the still flooded south end, as reports of looting were made.

West Springfield and Holyoke refugees were returning to their homes as the flood abated.

Unofficial figures placed the damage at $1,500,000 in Springfield; $1,200,000 in Hadley; $1,250,000 at North Adams and $1,250,000 at Chicopee.

Rescuers Reach Isolated Town

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Boston Evening American Staff Reporter

GILBERTVILLE, Sept. 24—Completely isolated from the outside world for more than two-and-one-half days, residents of this town today were reached by Red Cross workers and State Police, bringing food and medical supplies.

Accompanying the band of rescue workers was a Boston Evening American staff photographer and this reporter.

It was the first time that any persons had reached the hundreds of isolated victims here and in sections of Barre.

All electric power has been off since early Wednesday morning. Telephone and telegraphic lines are down, and all highways leading into this community have been washed out.

Gilbertville was not the only community in central Massachusetts which faced the same crisis. In Barre Center and sections of Barre Plains the same situation existed.

Although no persons were reported as death victims by the flood and hurricane, all seemed to be in a happy frame of mind. At least a score have been reported missing.

Estimate of damage in Barre was placed at one and a half millions of dollars and 150 persons are homeless.

Army planes soared over this section today, dropping miniature parachutes which contained packages of serum to be used by Red Cross for inoculation purposes. Fear was expressed over a plague of typhoid disease, because of water conditions.

Barre Common was completely destroyed. Trees were uprooted.

One of the most distressing tales of the hurricane was told this reporter by Arthur C. Sheldon, of Barre, father of six children, and owner of a large farm.

Sheldon's farm was practically wiped out. Only a portion of his farmhouse was standing.

"We were going towards the farmhouse when both of us were swept against the silo," Sheldon related.

"Suddenly the silo crumpled. The children were crying in the house. We crawled about 50 feet on our stomachs to the house."

"We gathered the family and then sat on the porch. In case the house blew away we hoped on a chance of escape. From there we watched part of our house, the farm buildings and crops go with the wind."

Storm Deaths Reach 100 In Connecticut

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 24—The incomplete hurricane death toll in Connecticut rose to 100 today as three more bodies were discovered in storm debris by reclamation workers.

The latest victims reported were Frederick Graves, 73, Plainfield; Theodore Salo, 53, Canterbury, and Joseph Leon, 75, Putnam. Meanwhile an army of federal, state and municipal forces was planning temporary shelter for 15,000 homeless, emergency rations for thousands more and reconstruction not properly damaged to the extent of $30,000,000.

Windham and New London counties were under military patrol.

The communities of Plainfield, Brooklyn, Danielson, Putnam, Thompson and Canterbury were placed on short rations and a warning issued against profiteering.

Norwich remains isolated for the third successive day. It reported property loss of $2,000,000.

Still prostrated from force of the storm and a $4,000,000 fire, New London expected to receive urgently needed food, clothing and medicine.

All along the coast the sea continued to give up its dead. More than a dozen bodies have been cast ashore in the past 24 hours.

Searchers continued search for others at Old Saybrook and Westbrook.

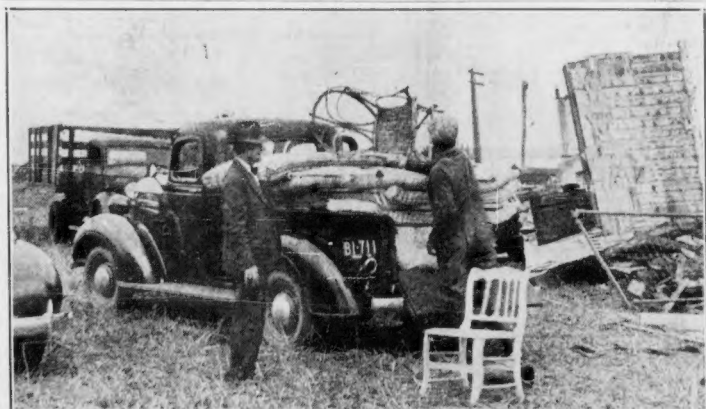

QUINCY DIGS OUT

With street car service restricted to normal and highways cleared for traffic, Quincy hoped for a complete restoration of light and telephone service today. About a quarter of the homes were still in darkness this morning.

Views Body, Decides 'It Ain't Me'

GALLIE, R. I., Sept. 24 (AP)—Charles Keville walked into a temporary morgue and looked at a body which had been identified as his.

"Nope," he said, "that ain't me," and walked out again. Note to editors—Remove Keville's name from list of storm dead.

Hotel Plunge

Dr. Roemer Renshaw, former professor at Harvard Medical School, and his wife the former Mary H. Wallace, plunged to their death today from the 19th floor of a Prospect Place, New York, apartment hotel.

The bodies of the couple were found on a grass covered courtyard in the rear of the hotel.

Two hours after police had begun a probe of the dual tragedy they were unable to determine whether the couple were the victims of a suicide pact or whether the doctor had given his life to prevent his wife's plans for self destruction.

Neighbors said they heard Dr. Renshaw screaming for help a few minutes before the tragedy.

Police, however, declared there was no evidence to indicate a struggle had taken place.

According to police, two children of Dr. Renshaw are in Massachusetts. A son, Birdsey Renshaw, is reported to be doing research work in biology at Harvard, while a daughter is associated with the John Hays Hammond foundation at Gloucester.

TO TELEPHONE USERS IN NEW ENGLAND:

To meet the most serious emergency in our history approximately 3,000 extra men and women experienced in telephone work have been added to our own forces. Crews of Bell System workmen from New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey have been brought here to help restore service. The Western Electric Company is operating day and night to send necessary supplies and equipment. Approximately 25,000 poles were down. A total of 25,000 miles of wire must be replaced. Much of this material, together with other necessary equipment, is on the way to affected areas.

Every switchboard position in New England that can be used is being used at maximum efficiency. Every available telephone truck is at work and every repairman is completing some definite assignment. Outside crews are bringing their own trucks and are being given assignments immediately on arrival. There will be no letup until normal service is restored.

Despite the progress being made — and each hour brings reports that new communities have had service restored — the situation is still serious. At least 200,000 of our 1,223,000 telephones are out of service. Whole areas in western Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont and Cape Cod are isolated from the rest of the world. With our plant seriously crippled, the number of calls has leaped to more than 70 per cent above normal.

We are deeply conscious of the inconvenience caused those deprived of telephone service as well as those whose calls to distant points have been delayed. With the present situation, however, we feel that each individual telephone user will appreciate that our first job is to restore service where it is most urgently needed — to areas, cities and towns that are isolated, to hospitals, fire and police departments and relief agencies.

When this primary job is finished we will undertake immediately the restoration of service to individuals at their homes and offices in order that the period of unavoidable inconvenience may be shortened as much as possible.

The Company greatly appreciates the help given by state and municipal authorities and other agencies and the patience and cooperation of its thousands of customers.

Haney Answers Critic on Deal

By LEWIS HANEY

(Professor of Economics New York University)

Special to the Boston Evening American, asks:

"Do you think the New Deal has any redeeming features? You never find a good thing to say of the New Deal leader and his doings."

Answer: I am one of the millions who voted for Mr. Roosevelt when he ran the first time, which was before he had broken all his campaign promises.

On the whole he headed the 1933 banking crisis well.

While he has been willing to try anything once, and that is in fact necessary for a leader, his experiments have been too far to the left in most cases. This may have saved us from some sort of rebellion. He also has tried at a time when the world has become a disaster.

But that is about as far as he has gone.

OTHER GOOD THINGS

Other good things which have come out of the New Deal would have come out of any administration that could have been elected under recent conditions of fear, test and character even under Lincoln.

He has kept the peace in the face of a hate campaign, he has kept the peace in the face of a hate campaign.

If the New Deal had not been for the time being, it would have been a disaster. It has kept the peace in the face of a hate campaign.

As for the fact that the New Deal has partly destroyed the gold standard, it is a disaster. It has kept the peace in the face of a hate campaign.

So when the time comes, the New Deal is a disaster. It has kept the peace in the face of a hate campaign.

GO TO EXTREMES

That is the trouble. They go to extremes. They have gone to the extreme of the left.

Europe Tension Fails to Daunt Market Outlook

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—

The economic life of the country continues to demonstrate this week that it can forge another link in the chain of recovery despite the spreading influence of the European war.

Against the background of oppressive fear abroad, the business and industrial outlook here remained fairly cheerful.

The Associated Press index of industrial activity continued to rise based on the years 1923-1930. It rose to 106.4, the highest for the year. The composite with the recession low point of 65.8 at the end of May and with 1932 a year ago.

While the automobile industry showed only a slight increase in production of new models, steel production showed another upward slide and increased the bright steel output on the industrial horizon.

Operations in the nation's mills increased this week to 47.3 per cent of capacity, the highest since November 1, when operations were 48.6 per cent. The low point of production in this recession in the last week in 1937, was 19.2 per cent.

Coal and electric power production increased more than 10 per cent to the highest point of the year.

Despite all this, the determining factor for the actions of the security and commodity markets during the week was the fever of war which spread over Europe.

Industrial Activity Hits Recovery High

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—

Industrial activity continued to show signs of recovery this week, according to the latest available data, the government's composite index of industrial activity.

The Associated Press composite index of industrial activity rose to 106.4, the highest for the year.

Steel mill operations and railroad expenditures checked up new signs of the war.

The forward order book of the steel industry reflected a heavy flow of orders from automobile manufacturers. The index fell at once prepared for a sharp decline.

Chamberlain Tells Cabinet of 'Truce'

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 24—A new indirect appeal to Reichsführer Adolf Hitler to stay his hand from war and cooperate with the rest of the world in maintenance of peace was voiced by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today on his return from Godesberg, Germany.

Praised by all England for the last-minute "truce" he wrested from Hitler in their eleventh hour conference early this morning, Chamberlain flew back to London to report on the situation to his cabinet and to the French government.

"My first duty now that I have come back," Chamberlain said as he stepped out of his plane at Heston airport, "is to report to the British and French governments the result of my mission."

"I will say only this: I trust that all concerned will continue their efforts to solve the Czechoslovak problem peacefully, because on that turns the peace of Europe in our time."

'Ready to Fight,' Duce Declares

PADUA, Italy, Sept. 24 (INS) — To a crowd of 600,000 Paduans who shouted, "We are ready to fight," Premier Mussolini today predicted peace for Europe.

At the same time he revealed that Chancellor Hitler has given Padua until Oct. 1 to reply to his "final offer" on the Sudeten question.

"The situation," said Il Duce, "is like the weather this morning. It is very gray, but soon the sun ought to come out."

"There are tendencies and currents which believe the time has come to settle accounts with the totalitarian nations. In this case they would find themselves not only against the Germans, but against a solid bloc."

"It is absurd and criminal that Europeans ought to hurt themselves against each other merely to keep President Beneš and Czechoslovakia in well being."

"In the approaching days I ask you to maintain imperturbable calm because I know each and all of you are ready for any eventuality."

As the crowd roared: "Yes, yes," Il Duce continued: "Your approval echoes around the world."

Il Duce expressed hope that any conflict between the Czechs and Germans would be avoided, but declared that if it were not they were prepared for any eventuality.

Only Czechs Can Save Peace, Chamberlain View

LONDON, Sept. 24 (AP) — Prime Minister Chamberlain today said that only the Czechs could save peace in Europe.

"I have just returned from Godesberg," he said, "and I am convinced that the only way to save peace is to let the Czechs have their way."

Huge British Fleet Sails

LONDON, Sept. 24 (AP) — Britain today sent her largest fleet in 15 years to northern waters today as Prime Minister Chamberlain returned from his peace talks with Adolf Hitler.

Some 40 ships of the British home fleet put to sea suddenly from Liverpool.

During the night and today two battalions of destroyers joined the home fleet, which stretched for more than eight miles west of Scotland.

The British fleet, which joined suddenly in the precautionary preparations of an European effort, had been arranged to attend Scots Highland games at Inverness today.

The massive bands of the fleet were ready to pay when orders suddenly cancelled the program and the men were recalled to their stations.

Some sources reported the fleet was bound for Skapa Flow, famous World War base.

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

ESCAPISTS FROM the world of fact — with flood and hurricane horrors filling the headlines and war-dispatches singing over the wires from Europe — thronged to the gay spots of the town last night . . . News of the night in the nightclub sector must feature the re-opening of the Brown Derby, a standby for many seasons among the Rialto resorts . . . The best show your reporter has witnessed in the Arlington street rendezvous was revealed to a capacity crowd . . .

Without a box-office name, the floor show at the Brown Derby is clean, fast, fresh and exhilarating . . . Young Dick Stutz, directing a grand band of "solid" musicians, wins the major chance his talents were bound to bring him . . . There are no callow youths in the new Stutz orchestra . . . But the brass, percussion and reed sections swung the daylight out of a medley of melodies at the premiere, and with their performance of "Alexander's Ragtime Band," to the vocalizing of their leader, the organization evoked cheers from the customers . . .

Maestro Stutz really sings, too . . . He plays his violin, and doubles on the trombone; he acts as master-of-ceremonies and directs his boys in accompaniment to the performing artists in such a way that band's work is unobtrusive and beautifully effective . . . The show itself is a revel of dancing . . . Virginia Stuart, a lovely thing on the Eleanor Powell style, tip dances prettily and carries her footwork with an expert fling at a waltz . . .

A team of youngsters, Buster and Billie Purnell, ape the pattering steps hilariously . . . They were encouraged again and again . . . A threesome tops the performance — a threesome who work under the billing "The Chandler Trio" . . . A man and two girls make up the personnel of this act . . . It is not new to the nightclub circuit, but the Chandlers will command the attention of any audience . . . They glide gracefully through a series of difficult adagio evolutions, and for more than half the time the two girls are being whirled through the air simultaneously by the lithe male member of the trio . . .

An excellent chorus, which can actually dance, completes the show . . . If the Brown Derby can maintain the standard of its first show, its new management need not worry, in this opinion, about its success of the season . . .

Politicians, Attention:

Fred Allen passed quickly through this, his old home town, the other day, and in earnest and nasal conversation with his old friend, Benjamin V. Drohan, once an actor and now a staff member in the office of District Attorney William J. Foley, Fred left a quip or two behind him . . . For instance, he was telling Mr. Drohan, that the candidate who promises $30 a week and has it brought to them so that they don't have to go downtown to collect it—is a cinch . . .

Once Over Lightly:

John B. Carroll, manager of the Paramount Theatre, has rendered his appendix to a jar in the Baker Memorial Hospital . . . Another Carroll, Joan Carroll of the sister-act at the Old Howard will leave for Bermuda Saturday as a prelude to matrimony. Her affianced, with the ceremony not many weeks away, is Don Ruttle, who operates a huge amusement plant at Atlantic City . . . Dr. George W. Wainwright braved the Big Wind and is safe in his office . . . His boat escaped major damage . . .

But a note that will sadden many of his friends in the news paper business is that Tom Morgan, the AP reporter, lost his beloved auxiliary sleep in the hurricane . . . The craft was anchored off the Boston Yacht Club and pounded against the stone wall off the clubhouse Wednesday night. Many of the by-line writers of the Boston papers have been Tom's guests aboard his boat . . .

Owners of small craft were major sufferers in the disaster . . . va tling and small-boat racing, handed as it was, and the Muesas-Pugetts insist that it will take years to replace it . . . King Red, King who was stage-manager of the Keith-Boston show, but previously was playing vaudeville, has been pinned in the lobby by staff of the Keith houses . . . They say that Peggy Fitz, the pretty assistant treasurer of the Keith Memorial Association, is in the best berth . . .

Willie Fitch, the Bostonian who made a world's record by placing 153 holes of golf in one day, turns up in a new role—that of author . . . His book, "Wings of the Night," has been published for October 1 release . . .

He was twice decorated while flying in the night bombing squadron of the American air force which was commanded by Major Kenneth H. LaGuardia, now mayor of New York . . .

The novel recounts the Boston flyer's experiences in the war . . . On Thursday next, Author Fitch will be guest of honor of the Crosscup Pichon Post, A. L., at the Hotel Lenox, and members of the Archie Club—New England flyers who flew over enemy lines in the war—will be co-hosts with the legionnaires . . .

BLAME POLITICS!

The Editor Says: Dastardous floods in New England, particularly in the Connecticut and Merrimack river valleys, indict the POLICY OF INACTION that obstructs effective flood control.

Responsibility for this inaction rests entirely upon the government officials who know how to stop floods, BUT WHO HAVE NOT STOPPED THEM.

As everybody knows, control of floods is NEVER IMPOSSIBLE.

Comprehensive and effective plans for the restraint of flood waters throughout this section have been worked out by United States Army engineers.

But always they have been blocked by politics.

Two years ago after the 1932 inundation, interstate wrangling caused unnecessary and unpardonable delay.

Then when the States finally reached an agreement, the dam and reservoir projects were rejected in Washington because the Federal Government insisted on reserving to itself the right to use the rivers for the production of electricity.

Consequently all that resulted was an ABUNDANCE OF TALK AND NO ACTION.

Because of that political inability to see beyond one's nose, the millions that should have been spent for PERMANENT FLOOD CONTROL will now have to be used for relief and rehabilitation.

AND THERE WILL STILL HANG OVER EVERY VALLEY COMMUNITY THE THREAT OF ANOTHER AND PROBABLY MORE SERIOUS CATASTROPHE NEXT SPRING.

What a monument it would have been to the New Deal and to the governments of our New England States if ADEQUATE BARRIERS AGAINST FLOODS had been erected by some of the millions squandered on such useless ventures as tap-dancing classes and books by writers who could not write.

JEWISH PEOPLE throughout America and the world unite Sunday at sundown in the observance of Rosh Hashana, first of the Ten Days of Penitence, most important religious season on their calendar.

Forgiving and asking forgiveness, our Jewish brethren turn to God, trusting that He in His everlasting mercy will speedily deliver their race and other races from the unjust persecution of those that seek to use hatred and bigotry for selfish purposes.

This year unfortunately for an age that calls itself civilized, there is much to forgive. The outrages against the Jews continues in Germany. Mussolini in Italy has become a Hitler imitator. And other countries, notably Poland and Austria, have borrowed the vicious program.

Would that the millions of the misguided and deluded who are forgetting God and embracing atheism might resolve really to know the Jewish people who for sixty centuries have cherished and kept alive the spirit of Faith.

Wherever Jews live, not only in Germany but everywhere was the respect and honored.

FLOOD AREAS must guard against outbreaks of disease, particularly typhoid fever.

For that reason, the most careful attention should be given the warning of Chief Sanitary Engineer Arthur D. Weston of the State Department of Public Health.

Mr. Weston urges all residents of sections where water supplies have been submerged by the floods to boil drinking water before use for twenty minutes.

Especially should mothers do this. It is the easiest and safest way to protect the health of children.

Doped Mouse May Whip Cat

By EDWIN C. HILL

THE YALE INSTITUTE of Human Relations is not an interesting story told in the news with this idea that it would make a mouse whip a cat.

Its originator, Neal P. Miller, and Richard T. Shallenberger report that it is a workable idea. The mouse, they say, is a better fighter than the cat and as the cat is a better fighter than the mouse, the mouse can win. The mouse, they say, is a better fighter than the cat and as the cat is a better fighter than the mouse, the mouse can win.

The Amateur Athletic Association had better look out. There might have to be a revision of all its sports rules with a system of handicaps of various points laps or rounds per round of stimulus.

IT IS WELL that the Yale Institute brought it out into the open. Just think what would have happened if they had secret it for the Yale football team.

The Yale experiments are working with glands. These comparatively new field in medicine. It is a simple statement of fact to say that they have popped up laggards and that they have made sluggish, inept and fumbling persons into efficient human beings. Messrs. Miller and Shallenberger would no doubt insist that their studies of bodily metabolism are still in the field of carefully-guarded experimental techniques and that such inquiries still belong in the domain of pathology.

If our carburetor is working all right and you're getting sensible mileage I am sure they wouldn't advise you to start tinkering with it.

A ONE MAN institute of human relations, who left a deeper impression on his age than any other man of his times, was a wan, shy, almost transparent little man, always huddled up in two or three coats even in warm weather, a man whom a gland doctor of today would chase with a butterfly net.

He was Desiderius Erasmus, born in Rotterdam in 1466, one of the world's greatest humanists. His concerns were identically those of the Yale Institute of Human Relations. World civilization was imperiled, as it is today. While he was a fervent student of the Holy Roman Empire, this was because of his belief that humanity could be saved only by a world order; that the then existing "divergent states" would tear each other to pieces.

IN SUM he believed that a decent society would be made only by decent human beings, with or without a world order, and that morality, intelligence, creativeness and aspiration welled up mysteriously from the life stream and that if they were fostered in a world fraternity of men of goodwill, mankind would find its way out of darkness.

Truly amazing was the light and learning he spread over Europe.

Good Old U. S. A. Sure Can Handle Minorities

By DAMON RUNYON

(Copyright 1934 by King Features Syndicate, Inc. International copyright secured. All rights reserved.)

IT SEEMS to us that the whole trouble over in Europe is that those fellows do not know how to handle minority population problems, like the good old U. S. A.

This country used to have minorities itself, but there was seldom any great bother to it. As a matter of fact, we will have what we suppose you would call a minority in one of those spots of territory that we guzzled out of Spain back down the years.

This is Puerto Rico, an island in the Caribbean. What the good old U. S. A. does about this Puerto Rican minority whenever there is an occasion of doing anything about it at all, is to send the officer on the beat out to whack a few minority fellows on their beans.

The Puerto Rican minority is made up, as we understand it, of persons who think they ought to have home rule, or freedom, or some such tosh.

YOU CAN see that where the Puerto Ricans err is in giving vent to such notions in Puerto Rico. If they came to the good old U. S. A. and uttered them in Columbus Circle, nothing would happen to them, because this is a free country.

We used to have another sort of minority in a place called the Philippines. We guzzled the Philippines out of Spain, too, something like the way Italy guzzled Ethiopia out of the Ethiopians, only in our case we had the moral justification that it was done by the good old U. S. A., which can never do wrong, and besides it was so long ago that we are now covered by the statute of limitations.

Furthermore, we guzzled the Philippines out of Spain to liberate the Filipinos, and that is how they came to be a minority. How do you think we handled that

THE good old U. S. A. is generally willing to buy if it can get a good bargain. It bought Louisiana and Alaska and a raft of other territory and would probably have been willing to buy Hawaii only it found that they could have it as a gift and we got the steel guitars and songs about Wabiki beach with it, too.

The Indian minority was a right tough minority for a time. So the good old U. S. A. summoned Custer, and Nelson Miles, and all their cavalrymen in flat caps. While Custer did not do so good, the others ran that Indian minority into holes in the ground and showed them who was boss.

The survivors were rounded up and packed off to land that the good old U. S. A. picked out for them and while it may not have been land as good as that they had in the first place, enough of the Indians manage to keep alive on it to afford the world a splendid object lesson in what can happen to a minority.

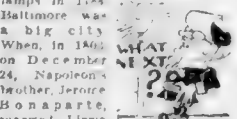

'Bugs' Baer Says:

IF YOUR town happens to be Baltimore, you might like to know how the egg was hatched. It was a metropolitan of 60 acres by an Assembly Act, August 8, 1774, and bounded by Liberty, Baltimore and Frederick streets and the Basin.

IT WAS laid out January 12, 1783, by the Town of Baltimore. It was laid out east of Jones Falls on November 22, 1782. In 1780 the Fort Union was built on the site afterwards occupied by St. Paul's Church in the corner of Salisbury and Francis streets.

BALTIMORE, and Jones Town were consolidated and incorporated as Baltimore Town on September 28, 1785. On April 20, 1787, the citizens subscribed $500 for building a market house, now town hall.

POLICEMEN were first employed in 1789. And, when the streets were lighted with oil lamps in 1784, Baltimore was a big city. When, in 1800, on December 24, Napoleon's brother, Jerome Bonaparte, married Lizzy Petersen, there was no holding either Jones City or Baltimore Town. You know the rest, in the books you have read, how the British torpedoes fired and fled. Baltimore was off to a head start.

Five New England governors and 11 heads of departments of public safety today urged the public to spend "an old fashioned New England Sunday" tomorrow.

In Massachusetts Commissioner of Public Safety McSweeney warned night-seers to stay off the public highways, which are still dangerous for travel. He said:

"Those who've forgotten what an old fashioned, New England Sunday is like, it consists of: Going to church, Reading the Sunday papers, Having dinner, Reading the papers some more, Having the neighboring folks in for the evening, Going to bed."

Men Make Plea For More Onions In Menus

By MARTHA LEE

We had passed the table last night and were sitting down to eat when we were informed that the waiter had brought us a special onion soup.

Perhaps we were a little late in our appreciation of the soup, but we did find it most delicious. It was a good thing to see a waiter who was so attentive to the needs of his guests.

When we were asked to pass the soup, we were told that it was a special onion soup. It was a good thing to see a waiter who was so attentive to the needs of his guests.

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL Old-Fashioned Reviving Salts Have Modern Uses

READY for the open road . . . by plane, car or train . . . is Ann Sheridan in this smart new fall hat . . . and if she's a wise traveler she'll have the cute reviving gadget that Arline Gould describes today in her bag or car pocket.

By ARLINE GOULD

THE VICTORIANS have been a hardy, good crowd . . . up until recently . . . when some of their . . . and some of their soft attempts toward the . . . received the credit due them . . . and now it's the de . . . ally re-ewing habit of "smelling salts" that's come back into fashion.

It's surprising how a new package called "The Voyage" fits to the modern scheme. It has smelling salts with a large bottle of water and a small vial of Eucalyptus extract, both to be used by merchants when you're seasick or on the point of a travel sickness.

Just you go dozing off at the wheel some night . . . a good whiff of the salts will jerk you back into complete alertness.

One stifling night not long ago, when the exigencies of business caused a large meeting place to be without benefit of an open window, we saw a little bottle of smelling salts go round the room.

It was a relief to see a man so loath to relinquish the reins of his car that were passed around as a "gift." They kept on sniffing at it, but it felt better, and we were quite quickly.

For airplane travel for long trips by sea or rail they'll stand you. The voyagers are a refreshment. Smelling salts are a quick relief. And people still faint you know.

To learn where this charming old "Voyage" package may be had, phone Arline Gould, L.L.B., 100, week-days until five, or write to the Boston American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Family 'Goats' Should Call A Halt

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

For most of us, the family is a source of pride and joy. It is the heart of our life, the place where we find our true home. But sometimes, the family can become a source of stress and tension. When this happens, it is important to take a step back and evaluate the situation.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am writing to you because I have a problem that I am not sure how to solve. I am a mother of three children, and I am feeling overwhelmed by the demands of my family.

My children are all at different stages of development, and I am struggling to keep up with their needs. I am also feeling a lot of pressure from my husband, who is always demanding more from me.

I am feeling like I am losing myself in the process of taking care of my family. I am not sure how to find a balance between my own needs and the needs of my family.

I am hoping that you can help me find a way to deal with these problems. I am not sure what to do, and I am feeling very alone.

YESTERDAY'S ANSWERS

Benny Goodman and Rudy Vallee are diametrically opposites in their musical styles.

But both Benny and Rudy are equally famous musicians in the "Swing or Straight" musical controversy at Boston Garden the night of Monday, October 24, are in hearty agreement that "Swing" is the most discussed topic of late conversation today.

While Vallee and his band, the Tommy Dorsey band, are the sweet sentimental music as much part and parcel of our most beautiful waives, he is the first to confess that Goodman's hot jazz tempo have released emotions and permitted the dancer a chance to get "in his inhibitions."

YEH BOY: SWING 'EM

Goodman says.

"Swing has blown the lid off music. Musicians used to be slaves to the score and to the conductor. Now they have a chance to individually express themselves.

"True we play from musical scores. But the solos are not written. When there's a trumpet or saxophone solo he gets up and improvises—we call it 'ending'—and the rest of the band has to follow him.

"If he's in the mood we say he's in the groove. I'm feeling his stuff, and he goes to town. In this way the boys in the band have a great time and the result is the alligator-swing-fun-fellow suit. They feel free, too, and let off steam the same as the players. Before you know it everybody's in the aisles and waving and stamping and clapping and shouting.

"It's just one grand old party for everyone."

TING OF JITTERBUG

And it's a good thing to be a jitterbug. Benny Goodman and Rudy Vallee are asking for their original story, "Tammany Hall." No wonder it startled two studios, 20th Century and Warner Brothers, into giving it immediate attention, for this is the highest price yet tagged on a musical.

The boys devoted a year to the research on their idea, which now becomes doubly valuable with the current headline stories on Tammany.

Yankees 1-2 Shot
To Win Series

Juveniles Clash
At Rockingham

By JACK CONWAY

IT IS UNNECESSARY to display too much concern over what baseball form the Yankees display between now and the time they are called upon to oppose the National League pennant winner in the first of the World Series games on October 5.

Once the Yankees won the American League championship they naturally let down and probably tossed the rules of training right out the clubhouse window. As a wise baseball manager, Joe McCarthy would not attempt to keep his club driving through the closing days of the league season without anything at stake.

I look for McCarthy to get his team back into its stride next week so that it will be prepared to step on high when it goes into baseball's blue ribbon classic.

I would not worry too much about what the Yankees are going to do in the Series. It would be better to show a kindly interest in the National League team that will be called upon to face Col. Ruppert's Rifles. On paper, the Yankees appear to have a decided margin on clubs like the Pirates, Cubs and Reds.

In power, the Yankees are like the Red Sox, and may usually be relied to come through with sufficient runs. Unlike the Sox, the Yankees have real pitching strength. Gomez, Ruffing and Pearson compose one of the most powerful pitching staffs to ever step into a World Series.

I would say the Yankees are a 1-2 shot over any club in the National League.

Joe McCarthy has the ideal temperament to manage New York's team of stars. He seldom ever gets excited and is a man for a job. He is a cool player and above in the selection of players. McCarthy's players have the highest opinion of themselves as club players.

It is seldom that a percent winner with so many talented players has had so little friction. This condition is due to McCarthy's complete control of the various situations that have come up during the year.

McCarthy Unlike National League Rivals

IN THE MATTER of temperament, the managers of the National League leaders are direct contrasts to McCarthy.

"Pud" Travner is nervous with a tendency to be jittery in important classics.

Gabby Hartnett is fiery and leads every charge of his players against questionable decisions by the umpires.

Bill McKechie has the dead pan expression of a chess player, and always uses percentage baseball. Bill never takes reckless chances in an effort to force a break.

Bill Terry has a tendency to be sullen, and is a quiet driver of the men under his command.

Perhaps the power of the Yankees has helped give McCarthy a good disposition. Even a quiet Scotchman like McKechie would probably break into occasional merriment if he had the destructive bats of Joe DiMaggio, "Red" Rolfe, Bill Dickey and Lou Gehrig working in his behalf.

$10,000 Property Loss at Rockingham

THE PROPERTY loss at Rockingham Park due to the hurricane is estimated at $40,000 by Lou Smith. The heaviest damage was done in the barns where roofs of barns were tossed around the neighboring countryside.

It is another day at "Old Rock," and the $3000 added Bennington Stakes is offered to make race goers forget about the headaches the track as well as they themselves have suffered in recent days.

The class of the juveniles will compete in the Bennington Stakes that will be run over a distance of a mile. You have seen the "baby" thoroughbreds flash brilliantly in races over shorter distances, and it will be interesting to see how they will fare battling for honors over the mile route.

The roads to Rockingham Park are open once more, and with a fair break in weather it is expected that 20,000 persons will journey to Salem, N. H., today to attend the eight race card.

Irish American A. A. Opening October 3

SO AS NOT to conflict with the Jewish holiday on September 26, the Irish American A. A. has postponed its first amateur boxing show of the season until October 3. Many of the better amateur boxers are Jewish and would be unable to compete on September 26. The Irish American A. A. shows are also attended by many Jewish fans.

Once in action, the Irish American A. A. will conduct shows each week. This organization will later co-operate with the Boston Evening American and Boston Sunday Advertiser in staging the Hearst All-American bouts in this city. The All-Eastern finals will be staged at the Garden on December 12, while the dates for the trials and New England finals will be announced next week.

Louisiana State Scouts

Given Plane to Keep Squad Informed Of Rivals' Plays

By Associated Press

Louisiana State does things in style. They've just bought a snappy four-seater airplane for their football scouts . . . National League President Ford Frick is just out with his annual statement: "Don't sell the National League short" . . . Haw!

The Long Island University basketball team which has been barnstorming in Puerto Rico made such a hit down there that several of the lads have been offered permanent jobs . . .

Big Ten readers are up in arms because it was said the best football in the country is being played in the Southwest. Bill Terry wants either Johnny Mize or Buddy Hassett for first base next season and will spare neither time nor expense to land either.

TERRY LIKES HASSETT, MIZE The California Teachers and the Indiana Teachers are not from California and Indiana, but from California and Indiana, Penn., respectively . . . Last-minute drop of the Coast changes our mind—now pick Washington to beat Minnesota by six points today.

One of the best press agents in the country is being turned in by Ned Irish, who publishes the National Football League.

All the way to the Coast Frank Thomas, Alabama coach, was moaning about the loss of his ace kicker, a bird named Sanford . . . Well, we'll see how much he misses him today.

LOUISIANA TOPS

Down at Texas Christian they'll bet you real dough the Horned Frogs have the best team in the country . . . But they're still afraid they'll lose to Louisiana State, which has the best team of all down there from what we can hear. Sam Wagner, Northwestern center who shined in the recent all-star game at Chicago, will take over this week as freshman coach at the University of Richmond.

Tiger Jack Fox, the light-heavyweight, is about to be off for South America for a series of bouts.

Norwich Loses Two Men

NORTHFIELD, Vt., Sept. 24.—Already riddled by the loss of good prospects, Norwich's football team lost two more men when Jay Rayner of Newton and Dick Bullens of Melrose were declared ineligible because of medical and scholastic reasons, respectively.

Jimmy Foxx Leading A. L. In Batting

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Jimmy Foxx of the Boston Red Sox, with a .349 mark in the American League, and Ernie Lombardi of Cincinnati, with a .342 average in the National, still were out in front today as the big league hitting races prepared for the final-week drive.

Their closest rivals were out in front today as the big league hitting races prepared for the final-week drive. Foxx, collecting eight hits in 16 batting chances this week, boosted his mark four points and boasted a 12-point edge on Myer, who made a five-point jump. Lombardi fell off one point and found his lead out to nine points over Vaughan, who raised his mark slightly during the seven-day span to .333.

The threats of Joe DiMaggio and Ducky Medwick in the rival circuits seem finally to have been killed off. DiMaggio dropped five points to .330 and a tie for eighth, and Medwick, although climbing to .325, was still 17 points off the pace. Season records of the first ten in each league:

Al Nettlow Class of Show

By JACK CONWAY

Lou Brouillard punched too hard to the body for Joe Glasgow, and won by a knockout in six rounds in their bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden.

Brouillard dropped Glasgow to the canvas for counts of two and nine in the third round, and for counts of two and ten in the sixth session. On each occasion it was body smashes that wrecked Glasgow.

Although badly beaten, Glasgow went down blazing away at Brouillard's chin with sweeping right hand socks. In the fourth round, Glasgow nailed Lou with three terrific right hand belts to the jaw.

It was an old-fashioned slugfest with neither middleweight worrying too much about the fine points of boxing. They paraded to close quarters and let their punches fly.

The bell saved Glasgow from a knockout after he was on the canvas twice in the third round. He they made a sturdy rally in the fourth round, and also did well in the fifth session.

A Brouillard right hook opened up a gash over Glasgow's eye in the fifth chapter. Brouillard then ripped a right hook to the body, and Glasgow went down for a count of two.

When the Quincy boxer got up, Brouillard examined over him and belted him with solid left and right hand socks to the body. Glasgow hit the canvas again, and was counted out by Referee Joe O'Connor.

NETTLOW WINS

Al Nettlow, brilliant Michigan lightweight, showed plenty of boxing class as he outpointed Honey Mellody of Charlestown in a ten-round bout. Mellody rallied in the tenth round, but Nettlow had a large margin at this stage of the mill.

Nettlow has a rapid fire left jab and hook, and also uses his right hand effectively. He is only 22 years of age and looks like an excellent ring prospect.

Mellody fought his usual aggressive, willing fight. Mellody had the misfortune to receive a severe cut over his left eye in the fourth round.

George Salamond of East Boston won from John Sorenson of Providence in six rounds.

Jerry Zullo of Chelsea scored a technical kayo over Blonde Ryan of Brockton in four heats. Freddy Cabral of Cambridge stepped Earl Johnson of Roxbury in two rounds.

A slim gathering of 2000 persons attended the show.

Fireworks Start Tuesday Cubs-Buccs Series Will Settle Race

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Adding fuel to the already blazing National League stretch fight, the Chicago Cubs today have carried their bid for the pennant to within two games of the league leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

Both the Cubs and Pirates have nine games remaining on their schedule, and even at this early date, all baseball anxiously awaits the Chicago-Pittsburgh hand-to-hand series beginning next Tuesday.

Perilous as the Pirates' lead might seem today on its face, the Cubs still are in an excellent position to snag the flag. They have six games left with the Cincinnati Reds and three with the Cubs, while Chicago plays six with the improved Cardinals and three against the Buccs.

If the Pirates win six of their remaining nine contests for a percentage of 550, the Cubs would have to take all their nine games to nose Pittsburgh out with a 550 mark.

If the Pirates win six out of nine, and the Cubs lost one out of the last nine, the Pirates would win the pennant by one percentage point, 553 to 552.

If the Pirates win five out of nine, the Cubs could top the banner by winning eight out of nine, the margin being five percentage points.

The Cubs slashed a game and a half from the Buccs' lead by taking a twin triumph from the Philadelphia Phillies, 3 and 2 and 7 to 6, while the Pirates lost to the Reds, 5 to 4, in 12 innings.

Augie Galan's homer in the eighth won the opener, and Rip Collins accounted for the nightcap with a base-clearing double with two gone in the ninth.

Bucky Walters sent the Pirates down to defeat by holding them to seven hits and knocking in the winning run with a single in the 12th. The other National League teams were not scheduled.

Ted Hasleton, former six foot Reading High flash, is the only sophomore who seems to have won a varsity position, pairing up with the 200-pound veteran Jerry Edwards to fill the tackle berths.

The guard position have been won by Jack Urban and Al Bennett, while Veteran Webster Day has managed to stave off all rivalry for the center position.

Captain Al Pearson and Letterman Jimmy Dodwell stand out on the wings of the line, while the backfield will consist of Lettermen George Chirois at quarter, Art Griffin and Ted Sheehan at wingbacks, and Jim Weldon at full.

Red Sox Battle Champs Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—With second place at stake, the fast-traveling Boston Red Sox opened a final series with the Joe McCarthy's pennant-winning Yankees today.

The Red Sox are only a half game ahead of the Cleveland Indians and a failure against the Yanks would drop the Croninmen into third place.

As a result, Manager Cronin will send Joe Heving, the castoff who won eight out of 10 games since being rescued from the minors against the New York outfit.

Dodgers Stop White in Tracks

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates and their famed scholar and halfback, Whizzer White, were in the win column of the National Professional League today for the first time by virtue of a 17 to 3 victory last night over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The feature of the contest was the utter ineffectiveness of White, whom the Dodgers stepped for a loss of a yard in 15 ball-running attempts.
